Kingston's child protection worse than Baby P council

Kingston Council social workers have been told to go back over every child protection decision made in the past three months to make sure no children have been put in danger.

The review follows a damning Ofsted inspection report made public on Tuesday, which classed the council's safeguarding for children as inadequate.

In one case a vulnerable young person regularly went missing despite information suggesting she had been putting herself at considerable risk, according to the report.

by CHRISTINE FLEMING
cfleming@london.newsquest.co.uk

Another case was closed despite a young person suffering significant harm. In a third case, the council did not deal properly with a domestic violence murder.

A two-week inspection found: "serious failings... [in] child protection, particularly with regard to children and young people who had already been identified as suffering, or at risk of suffering, significant harm and who were subject to child protection plans."

Kingston Council's chief executive Bruce McDonald said: "All we can say is this isn't acceptable and that we have reacted as strongly and positively as we can."

Leader of the council Councillor Derek Osbourne said: "We have been found wanting [and], when we have had a national report for being outstanding before, it is a huge blow."

Kingston Council's director of children's services Duncan Clark has resigned, teachers and governors were told in a letter on Friday.

Richmond Council's director of children's services, Nick Whitfield, has taken over as joint director for Richmond and Kingston's new "safer together" improvement plan.

Conservatives called for resignations. Councillor Andrea Craig, Kingston's shadow lead member for children and young people, said: "We are now below Haringey and are the worst borough in London for safeguarding, which is horrific. This administration has clearly taken its eye off the ball and Kingston is not protecting its most vulnerable members of our community, our children."

Pests in maternity wards

by TOM BARNES
tbarnes@london.newsquest.co.uk

Evidence of cockroaches has been found in a maternity theatre where women give birth, Kingston Hospital has said.

Pest control officers were called out to deal with "evidence of cockroach activity" at Kingston's maternity unit in August last year.

Evidence of cockroach activity was also found in the eye unit, staff nursery and ward cupboard in a routine visit, while ants and mites were also found.

The details were revealed as part of a Freedom of Information request that revealed all pest control visits in August 2011 and in January 2012.

Pest control officers attended the hospital each week as part of routine preventative maintenance.

Included were four separate reports of evidence of rat activity outside the hospital but inside the grounds, while evidence of mouse activity was found in the gardens.

The hospital confirmed no one had been attacked by vermin while at hospital or been treated for illnesses related to vermin infestation.

A spokeswoman for Kingston Hospital said patients could be assured that the hospital treats the issue of pest and vermin control seriously.

She said: "The hospital has a strict policy in place for the management and prevention of pests and vermin.

"As part of this, a pest control company visits the hospital weekly to carry out routine, preventative work.

"If vermin or pest activity is reported, traps are laid and waste management procedures are considered to ensure that they are effective in terms of pest and vermin prevention.

"We have no reason to believe that patients are at risk from any pests or vermin."

Maureen Chatterley, hospitals lead for patient watchdog Richmond Link, said it would not be normal to find pests in a hospital.

She said: "While we have not yet been able to confirm this report with Kingston Hospital, we expect the hospital would take all necessary steps to resolve any such incident and to ensure that both the incident and their response to it are reported publically."

Cockroach: Pest activity has been found at Kingston Hospital

Denied bail

A man appeared at South Western Magistrates' Court on Tuesday, July 10, accused of threatening to damage property, assault by beating, and criminal damage.

James Ward, 40, of Fernhill Gardens, Kingston, was denied bail and will reappearing at court on August 7.

Court date set

A van driver was granted bail until he appears at Wimbledon Magistrates' Court facing charges of going to Motspur Park equipped for theft.

Daniel Waters, 30, of Tumbridge Close, Banstead, was released by South Western magistrates on July 10, until a trial on August 3.

Dogged: Children aim to stop mess Deadlinepix KT68436

Anti-poo poster planned

Schoolchildren who turned their noses up at dog poo dumped around a woodland area have started a poster campaign to help clear the mess.

Children from St Mary's Primary School in Church Lane, Chessington, ventured out to the Castle Hill nature reserve where they saw piles of dog faeces along their school walking trip.

Many of the year 2 pupils were disgusted when the muck got stuck on to their school shoes after stepping on it.

Teacher Jo Brimmell said: "The children were pretty disgusted. They were all saying 'argh yuck'.

"How can we expect kids to walk to school when there is dog mess everywhere?"

Once the class of 28 returned to school from their walk they decided to write persuasive letters to kick-start a clean-up mission of the nature reserve and surrounding areas.

Seven-year-old Katie Gill wrote and hand-delivered a letter to Chessington councillor Rachel Reid.

She said: "There was lots of dog poo and broken glass and I was upset about it. I wrote a letter to my councillor asking her to get rid of it."

Coun Reid said: "It is really nice that children care about these sorts of things. I got the mess cleaned up straight away and I sent her a letter back."

The colourful posters created by youngsters at the school aim to make dog owners think twice about not clearing up after pets.

The posters will be displayed around Churchfields in Chessington with more expected to be stuck up in nearby roads during the coming weeks.

Man found stabbed

A 27-year-old man was taken to hospital after being found with stab wounds inside an Old Malden pub.

Police were called to an address in Sheephouse Way, Old Malden, on Thursday, July 5, at 9.30pm, to reports of a disturbance.

When they arrived a resident directed them to the Manor pub, in nearby Manor Drive North where they said the stab victim was.

He was taken to hospital with non-life-threatening injuries.

Police said it was not yet clear where the stabbing took place.

A worker at the Manor, who did not want to be named, said the incident had nothing to do with the pub and they did not wish to comment any further.

Police said no arrests had been made.

Police are appealing to anyone who was in the area and witnessed the incident to contact DC Alex Gammampila at Kingston CID on 020 8721 5842 or anonymously via Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Wanted man arrested in Spain for 'knife threat'

EXCLUSIVE

by TOM BARNES

tbarnes@london.newsquest.co.uk

A Surbiton man wanted in connection with his mother's murder was arrested in Spain for allegedly threatening a clerk at a hostel with a knife, the Kingston Guardian has learned.

Sean Heiss, 28, was arrested by Basque Police at a hostel in the coastal city of San Sebastian at about 1am on June 21, but released three hours later, police in Spain have said.

Detectives want to speak to Mr Heiss about the murder of Margot Sheehy, found dead by work colleagues in her flat in Springfield Road in Kingston on June 12.

Spanish police said he was due to appear before a court in Spain in connection with the alleged offence on September 11 though his current whereabouts were not known.

Scotland Yard had issued a statement on June 22 saying Mr Heiss, who lived in the Sheraton flats at the top of St Mark's Hill, was in custody in Spain but in fact he had been released at least 24 hours earlier.

The blue notice warrant was circulated by the Serious and Organised Crime Agency (Soca).

A Soca spokesman said they refused to comment on ongoing investigations but said: "If we get information that we believe is relevant to an extraditing force it is always passed on as a matter of urgency.

"Our role is to pass on that information and that is what we did in this instance."

The British Embassy was not informed that Mr Heiss was arrested in Spain despite a consulate agreement between the two countries, a spokesman for the Foreign Office has confirmed.

A spokeswoman for the Met said: "The Metropolitan Police were told a 28-year-old man was in custody by the Serious Organised Crime Authority (Soca). For the reason he was released please refer to the Spanish authorities."

According to neighbours police battered down the door of his top floor flat at the Sheraton at the top of St Mark's Hill, Surbiton, on Thursday, June 14.

A neighbour, who asked not to be named, said forensics officer also attended the scene.

He said: "The detective asked me when they emptied the bins and I told him about 10 minutes before you arrived. They were up there for hours."

A 33-year-old, with an arm injury, and a 36-year-old complaining of back pains, were taken to Kingston Hospital, ambulance staff confirmed.

Music, dance and food at fun-filled Malden fortnight

Jump around: Space-hopper race at Beverley Park, New Malden Deadlinepix KT68394

Celebrations are in full swing as revellers reach the halfway point for the annual Malden fortnight.

Music, dancing and singing have swept the streets of New Malden since the start of the festival, which is in its 27th year.

Almost 100 stalls selling crafts and cakes lined New Malden High Street and community groups performed music and dance routines in St Georges Square on Saturday, July 7.

Chairman of the Malden fortnight committee Peter Findlater said they had been inundated with applications from stall holders this year and, despite rainy weather, spirits were high during the events.

He said: "It has all been going very well.

"The weather wasn't as good as we were expecting but we had quite a few stall holders who finished early because they had sold out.

"We had a great response from the public. It was much better than expected."

A break in the rainy weather saw families launch themselves into space-hopper races, welly-throwing competitions and a tug of war for a fun day, held in Beverley Park on Sunday, July 8.

by CLARE BUCHANAN
cbuchanan@london.newsquest.co.uk

Still to come are performances by the Juniper Hill Blues, Malden Wanderers and a big band night, which Mr Findlater said promised to be a great evening.

A sports club open day and dog show in Blagdon Park will wrap up the fortnight of fun on July 15, with classes for pets and their owners including waggiest tail and best dog's fancy dress.

For a full programme and for more information visit maldenfortnight.com.

Pounding the streets

Runners raising money for Fircroft Trust dragged themselves around central London in the rain on Sunday as part of the British 10k London Run.

Trailing women in chicken outfits, flanking injured rugby players and chasing the frontrunners, participants including Bishop of Kingston Richard Cheetham, Kingston Guardian assistant editor David Lindsell and Kingston councillor Andrea Craig.

Fircroft was mentioned three times from public address systems after the Surbiton charity Fircroft fundraiser Aine Lark stopped to speak to the DJ.

The charity for adults with learning difficulties, including Down's syndrome, moved into their dream home in Hook earlier this year after years of fundraising.

At their housewarming party two weeks ago residents took visitors by the hand and showed them their new rooms, which will allow them to grow old gracefully in a caring environment as well as visit pubs, shops, friends and family nearby.

KINGSTON ORTHODONTICS IS BRACED FOR BEAUTY!

With the job market tougher, and the world more image conscious than ever, adults are increasingly turning to a more unusual solution to give them the competitive edge. Over the last two years, Specialist Orthodontist Dr. James Stubbs of Kingston Orthodontics, has seen a change in his client base to include an increased percentage of adult clients.

INVISIBLE BRACES

Braces are no longer the metallic geeky appliances we remember from our childhoods. Developments in brace technologies have created the 'invisible brace'. Stubbs explains "We have some clever systems in our Kingston practice which are virtually invisible. Our most popular invisible brace product 'Clarity' is made of a translucent material to blend to the colour of your teeth, and can help to give you a perfect smile in less than 6 months. The most invisible system 'Incognito' even sits behind the teeth, so we understand why more and more adults are coming to us for consultations for invisible, effective treatment to straighten their teeth. Then the 'Invisalign' aligner brace system uses clear transparent materials, which can be removed whenever required."

FREE CONSULTATION

Kingston Orthodontics has been offering dedicated Specialist Orthodontic treatment in Kingston upon Thames since 2010 and has now moved to Strand House in Richmond Road. Specialist Doctors James Stubbs (BChD, MSc, MOrth RCS), Dina Slater (BDS, MFDS RCS, MSc, MOrth RCS, FDS (Orth) RCS) and Samantha Brown (BDS, FDSRCS, MSc, MOrth RCS) have treated a large number of patients from the Kingston area with fixed and removable appliances. In addition they also offer a wide variety of "Invisible" braces and use internationally recognized systems for those patients that only want a short course of treatment for their front teeth.

BRAND NEW PRACTICE!

A YouGov Survey of 2050 people found that 50% of people are now considering braces to improve their appearance and self esteem, but many were just not aware of the improved aesthetics of braces or see them as a treatment for adults. Due to the growing popularity of these braces in the adult community, Kingston Orthodontics is moving into a custom made space in Strand House, 169 Richmond Road this week to work alongside the well know group Physio & More Physiotherapy.

To book your free consultation please phone 020 3002 2501, or email kingstonortho@aol.co.uk

Find out more at www.surreybraces.co.uk

Richmond Road is well serviced for public transport as it is on the main bus route between Richmond and Kingston upon Thames. The mainline BR station is also approximately 0.6 miles from Strand House. There is free parking in the neighbouring residential roads and the building is directly across from the Shell service station.

Lib Dems deny homophobia

by NAZIA DEWJI
and CHRISTINE FLEMING
ndewji@london.newsquesat.co.uk

Liberal Democrats have laughed off allegations they ran a homophobic campaign to win the Grove ward town centre byelection.

Candidate Adrian Amer, who is gay, lost by just 23 votes to Liberal Democrat Rebekah Moll after a recount.

But only 25.7 per cent of the voters bothered to cast their votes.

A Lib Dem leaflet used on the doorsteps said: "It's always a straight fight here in Grove ward."

The phrase echoed anti-gay smears attributed to Simon Hughes, deputy leader of the Liberal Democrat party, in a 1983 parliamentary byelection where literature when he described himself as "the straight choice" against Peter Tatchell.

Leaflet dispute: Rebekah Moll's campaign literature

Mr Amer declined to comment as he was dealing with the funeral of his partner of 20 years on Saturday held at St Raphael's Church.

His agent Ben Mallett said: "He has been grieving and is finding it all a bit difficult. We do not know whether the leaflet was intended to be homophobic or not. All I would say is, it was a silly thing to print knowing our candidate was gay and that his partner had died."

Ben Summerskill of gay rights group Stonewall tweeted after the results came in: "Shocking news coming in about things whispered on doorsteps in Kingston Council byelection".

Matthew Sephton, chairman of LGBTory, the Conservative Party's LGBT group, told the Conservative Home website: "Talk of a 'straight fight' or a 'straight choice' in such a campaign is at best insensitive and at worst a poor veil for blatant prejudice."

But leader of Kingston's Liberal Democrat Derek Osbourne, said: "There will be a lot of people roaring with laughter about this. It is nonsense. I doubt any of us knew he was gay.

"It is just an expression that we use in our leaflets and have been using for a long time – because it is a two horse race. Homophobic? Bizarre beyond belief."

Winning candidate Rebekah Moll said: "It is a shame that this has happened and that it was construed that way."

On the night Mr Amer, who came so close to breaking the Liberal Democrat's stranglehold on the ward, said: "I feel elated. Very encouraging. A positive result and I am proud of the result."

Grove byelection results

Adrian Amer (Con)	687
David Child (BNP)	23

Swan river: Birds gather at the bank

Rowers brave the weather

Despite downpours visitors gathered on the riverside to celebrate the annual river festival and Kingston Regatta.

Music, entertainment and rowing took place on the stretch of the Thames from Charter Quay to Eagle Brewery Wharf, from the festival on July 7 and 8.

Wandering entertainers, stalls, displays and a headline performance by contemporary string ensemble Urban Soul Orchestra amused visitors.

The regatta, which has run for more than 150 years, attracted crews from across the country and past competitors include Olympic gold medallist rowers.

Kingston Rowing Club hosted the regatta, which saw nearly 300 races completed over the weekend event.

Activity on the river will continue this weekend with the dragon boat challenge, organised by Kingston Rotary Club.

The event, on Sunday, July 15, will see teams from across the country competing with drums and colourful boats.

Pulling for victory: Crews take part in the regatta and, left, the women's coxed fours winners and, right, John White with the challenge cup KT68531

Ambulance workers fear attacks in 'no-go areas'

by TOM BARNES
tbarnes@london.newsquest.co.uk

An ambulance worker has spoken of the fear of attacks while on duty.

The comments came as a Kingston Guardian investigation revealed 62 staff working in Kingston had been attacked while working in the past two years.

The figures showed 10 addresses in Kingston identified as no-go areas for unsupported ambulance crews, though the London Ambulance Service (LAS) said the details could not be revealed because of data protection rules.

LAS was unable to confirm the exact location of the attacks, but said the figures were obtained from stations attending calls in Kingston borough.

Male and female staff had been punched in the head and received injuries, including bruised arms and sore shoulders, a Freedom of Information request revealed.

They are now given stab vests and radios with panic buttons to alert the control room if they feel threatened.

The ambulance worker, who is based at a station in the borough but asked not to be named, said the risk of being assaulted was a daily occurrence. He said: "It is not just on Friday and Saturday as you would expect when we have to deal with people who have been out drinking.

"There are almost daily attacks on staff if you take into consideration all of London.

"Sadly that is the nature of the job. We deal with drunks, but also people with psychological problems, so we have to wear a stab vest."

LAS security management specialist Martin Nicholas said the safety of staff was paramount and there were a number of measures to protect them.

He said: "It is concerning that our staff are attacked while treating patients by people from the very community they serve.

"We have a register of addresses that highlights where previous experience suggests there may be a risk to our staff of physical abuse.

"Ambulance staff will normally attend these addresses with police officers."

Where angels fear to tread: Ambulance staff are fearful of attending calls from some parts of Kingston

Chessington World of Adventures: Jessica Blake suffered serious injuries at the theme park KT67982

Family of injured girl organise fundraiser

Relatives of a girl who suffered severe injuries at a theme park have organised a concert to raise funds for her recovery, writes Sara Neal.

The family of Jessica Blake, five, from Kent, have arranged the concert, Jamming for Jessica, after the youngster suffered a fractured skull, a bleed on the brain and broken ribs when she fell from the Tomb Blaster ride queue at Chessington World of Adventures on June 7.

Jessica, of Sheerness on the Isle of Sheppey, was treated by medical staff at the theme park before being taken to hospital.

She is now reported to be talking to her family at St George's Hospital, Tooting.

The concert will take place at the Clarendon Royal Hotel in Gravesend on July 29.

Jessica's family hope the event will raise funds to help her rehabilitation.

Award for phone app

Two Kingston University students have received a student design award for their revolutionary pension business venture phone app, writes Hana Hausmeister.

Sophie Burt, 21, and Rachel Mintern, 22, impressed judges at the Royal Society of Arts with their plans for a company, Mid Way, that will help pensioners and workers plan for a break in their career.

Having created an app for smart phones and tablet computers, the students were optimistic about the benefits of their design.

Miss Burt said: "It would help calculate how much a career break would cost and work out ways of saving for it."

As a result of the successful design, the students have been granted an internship with design and branding agency Dragon Rouge.

Colombian burglars to be deported after jail

Jailed: Denisse Bernal

Jailed: Carlos Martinez

Jailed: Pedro Herrera

by CLARE BUCHANAN

cbuchanan@london.newsquest.co.uk

More South American burglars face deportation after being sentenced to time behind bars.

Carlos Andreas Romero Martinez, 32, pleaded guilty to burgling a house on January 27 this year and was sentenced to 14 months in jail at Kingston Crown Court on June 27.

Another three Colombian burglars were also handed prison sentences after admitting conspiring to burgle properties in Kingston and Croydon in November last year.

Judge Richard Southwell handed a sentence of two years to Carlos Alberto Poveda Guio, 42, two-and-a-half years to Pedro Cortez Herrera, 39, and three-and-a-half years to Denisse Lara Bernal, 27, at Kingston Crown Court at an earlier hearing on Wednesday, June 13.

Detective Inspector Simon Day said: "This was a complex investigation into a highly organised team who predominantly targeted members of our Asian community to steal high-value gold and jewellery among other items of property.

"They often took irreplaceable heirlooms and caused considerable damage. The impact on the victims was considerable and long lasting."

All four burglars will be deported after their sentences have been served.

South American burglary gangs were first revealed by the Kingston Guardian in December last year and have added to Kingston's burglary rate.

A total of 94 homes were hit in December 2011, the highest number for three years.

But three South American burglars sentenced in January this year disputed they were an organised criminal gang and claimed to have met only a month before their crime.

The spate of burglaries drained police resources from other parts of the borough as officers were drawn away to help deal with the crimes around the A3 corridor.

Children win medals at fair

Children were awarded Olympic medals for their efforts at their school summer fair.

Pupils, teachers and families turned out in force for the annual event at King Athelstan Primary School on Saturday, June 30.

The children took part in a range of sports including the long jump, throwing and a tug-of-war. The top three competitors the each category were awarded the medals, which came from Olympic test events.

Kingston and Surbiton MP Edward Davey joined the tug of war and presented the awards, which included a silver trophy for the overall winner.

Organisers hope the event will raise more than £2,000.

Driver gets 18 months for car chase smash

A driver who crashed into the front window of two Surbiton shops following a police car chase has been sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment.

Luke Dowd, 23, from Ottways Lane, Ashtead, smashed his black Volkswagen Golf into Cycleopedia, a bike shop, and Feedwell Cafe in Ewell Road in the early hours of Sunday, March 11, this year.

Scraps of metal, bricks and broken glass were strewn across the road and a bench was destroyed in the accident that saw homes evacuated at 5am and the road closed for five hours.

by NAZIA DEWJI

ndewji@london.newsquest.co.uk

Dowd was taken to hospital with head injuries that were understood not to be life-threatening at the time.

He was convicted at Kingston Crown Court on June 21 of driving a car while unfit to drive due to alcohol, dangerous driving and failing to stop when required to do so.

He has also been disqualified from driving for three years and 10 months.

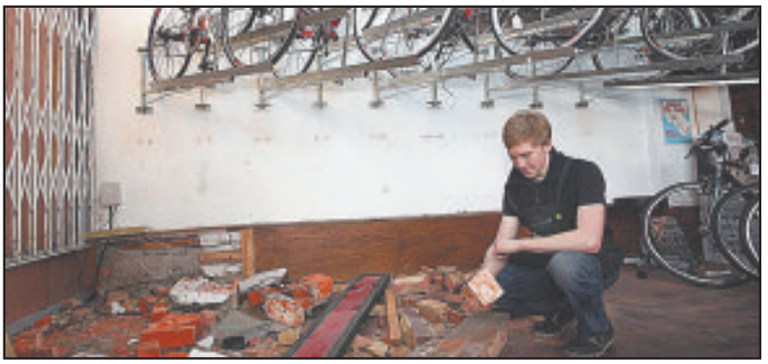

Four months later Feedwell Cafe remains closed while the front of Cycleopedia is still boarded up, with customers encouraged to use the back door.

The engine of the vehicle was found at the back of the bike shop after the crash.

Cycleopedia owner Peter Crane said: "I am glad I didn't have to go to court. I have no personal view on the matter [sentencing]. I have more important things to worry about in my life than damage to a shop.

"It has been frustrating, but we are getting there.

"Insurance has given the go-ahead so builders are meant to start this week."

New look: One of Anna Collinson's designs

The appliance of science

A fashion student and budding designer has taken inspiration from London's Science Museum and 1960s space suits to create her final year fashion collection.

Kingston University student Anna Collinson's research led her to discover that the astronauts' outfits of the 1960s that stimulated her project were actually designed by a subsidiary of a company better known for making lingerie – Playtex.

Miss Collinson said: "I was attracted by this clash of ideas. Although women have been into space, I think of the idea of being an astronaut as very masculine. Yet here was a company renowned for making ladies' girdles right at the heart of the whole lunar story."

Miss Collinson's collection combines features of the iconic space suits with some of the more delicate attributes of women's lingerie.

Have faith in walking

Keen Kingston walkers have been encouraged to take part in a borough interfaith walk backed by Mayor Boris Johnson.

The route will incorporate stopovers at a Korean Buddhist temple, a Greek Orthodox Church, a Jewish synagogue, a Sikh gurdwara and other religious establishments.

The walk, organised by South London Inter Faith Group, aims to celebrate the multi faith character of London and demonstrate the inter faith collaboration taking place across the capital ahead of the Olympic and Paralympic games this summer.

The group which has been running since 1981 will be guiding 11 walks in 10 different boroughs over the following weekend.

The walk through Kingston starts at 10am at Norbiton station and will run until 5pm on July 15.

There be dragons

If you have ever wanted to paddle a big canoe dressed as a cowboy, while whistling the theme tune to Hawaii Five-O, now is your chance.

On Sunday, July 15, YMCA London South West will be taking part in Kingston's dragon boat race.

We are taking part to raise money for our work with children and young people, have two boats and are looking for teams of up to 16 people (and a drummer) to take part.

For a registration fee of £10 and a pledge to raise a minimum of £80 in sponsorship per person, we promise a great day out by the river with al fresco nibbles and drinks from our gazebo.

Last year was such a great fun-filled family day with lots going on both in and out of the water – market stalls, children's rides, food and beer tents.

If you would like to know more, or would like to sign up, call 020 8339 7308, email sarahward@ymcalsw.org or visit ymcalsw.org/dragon-boat-race-2012.

Earlier new school plans were blocked by Lib Dems

Councillor Liz Green (Petition is first stage of our campaign, July 5), fails to remind readers there was a similar start four years ago, which she and her colleagues on the Liberal Democrat executive resolutely stopped.

A parental petition for a new secondary school was presented to that executive on January 25, 2008.

It was rejected with the comment "current analysis of the projections on pupil numbers does not indicate the need for an additional secondary school".

If the executive accepted the petition, then through the Building Schools for the Future programme the new school would by now, arguably, have been built.

North Kingston parents thought that rejection was a kick in the teeth – and by their own council.

What has changed? The forecasts for the growth in pupil numbers are the same. But the previous petition was organised by a Conservative councillor – and the Lib Dems could not have that.

Now they are organising their own petition, and inferring it is a new, brilliant initiative, but it is not.

And while the Lib Dem executive fiddled, north Kingston's parents burned. Pupils who were in reception in 2008 are moving to year 4 – with no new school in sight.

Future of health service

Kingston Hospital Unison branch celebrated the NHS's 64th birthday on July 5 replying "yes" to the question "Will you still need me?"

In 1948 Nye Bevin set up the NHS to provide health care for everyone. While we celebrate this occasion in our organisation, we are mindful that all the NHS stands for is being swept away.

The Government's changes mean services are being supplied by private companies and the quality of service is being eroded.

Hospitals forced to cut budgets are beginning to see longer waiting times and staff overwhelmed with work.

There is a line in a Beatles' song that goes "Send me a postcard, drop me a line stating point of view, indicate precisely what you mean to say, yours sincerely wasting away".

We hope that is not the future for our health service.

Any anyone wanting to state their point of view should write to their MP to tell them how much the NHS means to their lives.

MARK VEITCH
Unison branch chairman
Kingston Hospital

Is this how the Tory party treats its own members?

Further to Mary Clark's letter in which she gave her views on the mayor attending the jubilee pageant (Poor show, June 15).

I find it extremely unprofessional of her colleague Councillor Geoff Austin to write on a social networking site about Mary Clark and that two other councillors liked his comment.

Even if Coun Austin or the Conservative Party did not agree with her comments it should have been dealt with internally, or is this how the Tory party treats its own members?

Why shouldn't people make their views about the mayor known?

For a Royal borough, Kingston celebrated the jubilee, on the whole, poorly.

Landlords speak out

Everyone appreciates the importance of the pub in the life of the community and everyone knows running one is very hard work.

So I am glad of the opportunity to tell readers about a new opportunity for pub managers who find the way regulations are enforced is making their lives difficult, or who have had really good advice from regulators and wish others could learn from it.

The recently-launched Pubs theme on the Focus on Enforcement website gives hard-working pub managers the chance to speak out against uncaring officialdom – and also to give credit if someone has been really helpful.

The Government wants anyone involved in running a pub to feed in their experiences, good and bad, of dealing with local authorities and other regulators as part of the campaign.

I urge all readers who run pubs to go visit bis.gov.uk and let us know your views so we can consider and take any necessary action.

This is your chance to make a real difference.

WHEELS KEEP TURNING

Roll on: Gymnasts hone their cartwheel skills on the Milennium Bridge

Gymnasts will set off a giant Mexican wave of cartwheels as part of an art installation to celebrate the Olympic Games.

The Kingston Big Wheel was created by Charlie Murphy who has previously drawn inspiration for her choreography from dentistry, kissing, trout tickling, aerial dance and country dancing.

Tolworth, Avondale and Genesis Gymnastics clubs will be participating in the performance at the Stanley Picker Gallery, which also marks the final weekend of the International Youth Arts Festival 2012.

References to Kingston's own pioneer of stop-motion photography Eadweard Muybridge will be included in the choreography.

The performance will be backed by original music from composer Jorge Queijo.

Murphy graduated in fine art at the Royal College of Art in 1999 and her work takes in photography, video, performance and sculpture.

She has exhibited throughout the UK and internationally, including presentations for Tate Modern and Edinburgh Festival.

THE PLAY'S THE THING

Budding playwrights have been invited to put their fingers to the keyboard to create plays for an annual competition.

The Cornerhouse arts centre in Douglas Road, Surbiton is looking for people who want to write a play for the Oneacts 2013 festival.

The week-long showcase of original writing will take place in April next year and is open to anyone wanting to write a short play.

It will be the ninth year the arts centre has run the festival that has become well established and highly respected in the arts scene.

Plays need to be between 15 and 30 minutes long and judges will select the best original ideas to be brought to life with directors and a full cast for the festival.

Unsuccessful entries will receive feedback, so writers can improve their skill.

The deadline for submission is Wednesday, October 31. Email plays to oneacts2013@thecornerhouse.org.

Information is available at thecornerhouse.org under oneacts2013 – guidance.

A modern spin on Shakespeare's famed play Hamlet will be performed by the Green Theatre Company this month.

I Hate Hamlet is a rollicking and fast-paced American comedy full of witty one liners and interesting characters.

The story revolves around Andrew Rally who is cast as Hamlet when his own television series is axed.

Having always hated the Shakespearean character, the ghost of legendary actor John Barrymore is summoned to Rally's apartment where it seems he will stay until Rally is committed to playing the role of Hamlet.

I Hate Hamlet by Paul Rudnick will be directed by Brittany Rex as part of the International Youth Arts Festival line up this month.

❑ I Hate Hamlet; Arthur Cotterell Theatre, Kingston College, Kingston Hall Road, Kingston; July 20, 7pm, July 21, 2.30pm; £8/£5 concessions. For more information, or to book, call 08444 821556.

Opening the Dora

Art lovers will be able to celebrate the life of sculptor Dora Gordine at her studio home with a free tour including dance performances and displayed projection works that will bring the house to life.

Illumination is a fascinating collaboration between the StemKu Dance Company, projection artist Robin Hutchinson and the historic Dorich House Museum.

Visitors will be guided around the studio home of the famed sculptor through a series of intimate dance pieces and projection works.

Gordine produced her sculpture works during her lifetime from 1895 to 1991.

The exhibition is part of the International Youth Arts Festival.

Artist: Dora Gordine

Kitchen sink drama

Part comedy, part tragedy and part morality tale, Razing Eddie is a 21st century interpretation of a 1950s kitchen sink drama that examines the hopes and fears of the working class against a backdrop of desperation, disappointment and recession.

Conditions of acceptance of advertisements

General
1. The following conditions apply to the placing of an order for insertion of advertisements in Newsquest Media Group ("Newsquest") printed or electronic publications. Each order will form a separate agreement and English law will apply. Any change to these conditions must be agreed by us in writing (which means by exchange of letter, fax or email). An "advertiser" means any person or organisation placing an advertisement on their own account or on behalf of another.

Contents
2. The advertiser confirms that the advertisement complies with all applicable legislation, regulations and codes of practice, including the codes supervised by the Advertising Standards Authority. We may reject or require changes to any advertisement so as to comply with legal or moral obligations placed on us or the advertiser; to avoid infringing the rights of a third party or any relevant code of practice; or to meet our published production and quality specifications.
3. The advertiser further confirms that:
 i) the publication of the advertisement will not breach any contract, infringe the copyright, trademark or other right of any third party and is not libelous of any person;
 ii) all licences and consents from third parties necessary for the publication of the advertisement have been obtained and paid for, including consent from living persons identified in copy or pictures (photographic or otherwise);
 iii) in respect of an investment advertisement, the contents have been approved by, or the advertiser is, and authorised person within the meaning of the Financial Services Act 1986 as amended or the advertisement is otherwise permitted under that Act.

Payment
4. All advertisements must be paid for in full at the time of booking unless credit has been agreed. The price shall be the amount fixed by our published rate card on the date of acceptance of the order plus VAT where applicable. For non-credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of an advertisement that has not been paid for on time. For credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of any future advertisements if payment is not made in accordance with our payment terms. For credit advertisers, interest will be charged on late payments at the rate of 3% above the Bank of England's base lending rate from the date payment is due together with the administration costs of collecting an overdue debt.
5. By placing an order with us, an advertising agency confirms that it contracts as principal with full authority from its client in all matters connected with the order and is responsible for all payments due. We will only accept advertisements from advertising agencies if they are recognised by us.
6. We will try to give notice of increases, but we reserve the right to change our advertising rates at any time. This will not affect contracts, including any fixed term agreement for a series of advertisements.

Box numbers
7. We will use reasonable efforts to forward replies to box numbers within a reasonable time, but we are not responsible for any failure or delay caused by circumstances beyond our reasonable control, or for any losses relating to an advertiser's business or any loss that is not reasonably foreseeable by both parties.

Cancellation
8. We will notify the advertiser of the latest time that orders can be cancelled (the "booking" deadline) and the latest time that advertising copy can be received by us ("the copy deadline"). An advertiser may cancel up until copy deadline and we will make reasonable efforts to re-sell the space, but the advertiser will be liable for the full price if the space is not sold and we will reclaim any unearned volume-based discount. Private advertisers booking by telephone or online may cancel in accordance with relevant law, but no refund shall be available after the copy deadline unless cancellation is due to our negligence. If the copy is not received by the copy deadline, we will not be liable if the advertisement does not appear, but the advertiser will remain liable to make full payment for the price of the advertisement.
9. We will try to satisfy an advertiser's request regarding the positioning of an advertisement, but no guarantee of position can be given unless agreed by us and paid for at the rate then current.

Errors
10. We are not liable for any error, misprint or non-appearance of an advertisement unless caused by our negligence, in which case the advertiser will be entitled to a re-insertion or proportionate refund. The advertiser is solely responsible for checking the advertisement on each insertion and ordering correction where necessary. Except where we have been negligent, we shall not be liable for an error or misprint that, in our reasonable opinion, does not materially detract from the advertisement. We shall not be liable in any case for losses relating to any business or public fund-raising for the advertiser, such as lost customers, revenue or profit.

Copyright
11. Advertisements are accepted on condition that we have the right to publish them online as well as in any booked titles. The copyright in work or material we contribute to or re-work for an advertisement belongs to us. We will dispose of advertiser's copy, artwork, photographs or other materials after six months unless collected.

General
12. We shall not be liable if our publishing activities are restricted or prevented by any law, act or event beyond our reasonable control (including, for example, industrial dispute). In such case, the advertiser shall accept publication when available or otherwise may cancel the order by written notice and pay only for work done and materials used.
13. We will use the advertiser's details for internal administration. Unless the advertiser tells us not to in writing at any time, we may also share details with other Newsquest companies or with carefully selected third parties, who may send information about goods and services.
14. The advertiser will be liable to pay us for all costs, losses, expenses and damages of any kind suffered or incurred by us as a result of legal claims or actions, actual or threatened, arising from the advertiser's breach of these conditions or the publications of the advertisement, unless caused by our own negligent act or failure.
15. We may cancel the order at any time if the advertiser breaches these conditions and the breach is not capable of remedy or it continues for seven days after we have given written notice of it, or if we reasonably believe the advertiser is unable to pay debts or the advertiser goes or threatens to go out of business.

Method of payment
We will be pleased to accept your payment by any of the following methods:
- CHEQUE - Made payable to NEWSQUEST (LONDON) LTD.
- BACS - Electronic Bank Transfer • CASH - Paid to one of our Branch Offices.

Simple steps to avoid losing rental income

TAMASIN COATES
property@london.newsquest.co.uk

Landlords are being given fresh advice to make sure they don't lose money because their properties are standing empty.

The advice comes from the Association of Residential Letting Agents (ARLA) which is urging landlords to take action and introduce measures to reduce 'void periods' (when their property is unoccupied.

The latest research from the association reveals that average void period for a UK rental property now stands at three weeks, the longest period since the first three months of 2011.

Ian Potter, operations manager at ARLA, said: "Void periods can cause uncertainty and affect overall rental yields. While they are a fact of life in the rented sector, there are simple steps that landlords can take to help reduce the chance of a property being untenanted for extended periods.

"These periods without occupancy can also give a landlord a useful window to carry out routine maintenance and any additional work designed to make a property more attractive for incoming tenants."

ARLA recommends some key points to consider:

Set realistic rents

While rental properties are in high demand in many parts of the UK, this should not be taken as a guarantee of back-to-back tenancies. As well as asking the advice of a letting agent, it is also worth doing your own research to find out if the level of rent you are charging is suitable for the area. Remember that the overall cost of an extended void period can outweigh the perceived loss associated with setting a sensible rent, which may also make the property quicker to let.

Foster good tenant-landlord relations

A tenant's right to reside, undisturbed, within a property during their tenancy period is enshrined in law. This means that, except in an emergency, a landlord must give tenants 24 hours notice before requesting entry to the property for viewings or maintenance work.By upholding basic obligations, landlords have a greater chance of establishing a good relationship with tenants, and they may be more likely to stay in the property longer.

Make the property desirable

Ensuring the property is in good order could help make it more desirable, meaning it will be easier to let and may even mean tenants want to stay longer.

While tenants have a duty to look after internal fixtures, landlords are generally responsible for the repairs, unless the damage is caused by the tenant, as well as the structure of the building, the exterior and the roof.

In addition to this, a landlord must ensure heating and hot water installations, sinks, baths and other sanitary fixtures are maintained to a reasonable standard.

But further decorating and furnishing the property appropriately, and to a good standard, may help it stand out to potential tenants.

See a void as an opportunity

While it is important for landlords to keep up-to-date with necessary repairs, a void period could provide a good time for non-essential, intrusive maintenance and improvement works to be carried out, with minimum disruption to tenants.

This could, in turn, make the property more attractive.

Hodson humbles Wanderers

Reigate Priory bowler William Hodson took his league scalp tally to 35 as his 6-54 set his side on their way to a comfortable Surrey Championship Premier Division win over Malden Wanderers on Saturday.

Hodson's efforts dismissed captain Simon Crampton, right, and his men for 134 and the hosts had little trouble knocking off the runs as opener Andrew Delmont smashed 81 to see his side home for the loss of just one wicket.

Malden go to Banstead on Saturday.

South: Time for a change

New Malden's Mel South is hoping a change of coach can help put a nightmare two years behind her and fire her back up the world rankings.

The world number 264, ranked in the world's top 100 in 2009, has teamed up with Bath-based coach David Sammel having spent a spell in the tennis doldrums.

A narrow 1-6 6-7 second round defeat to former world No 1 Jelena Jankovic at the Aegon Classic in Birmingham last month, after an impressive 6-1 4-6 6-3 first round triumph over Mirjana Lucic, has convinced the former Holy Cross School student she has a future in the game.

And South is hoping a fresh approach can bring a fresh start.

"I completely lost my way," she said.

"My ranking has gone down and the LTA has been focusing on the younger players. Sometimes you think you should get more help, but I wasn't proving myself at the time.

"Now I am, I will do it my way and get back up there."

Ks set for a top flight triple

by STUART AMOS
samos@london.newsquest.co.uk

Premier League giants Chelsea, Fulham and Tottenham Hotspur are all the incentive any player should need to sign for Kingstonian this summer, according to boss Alan Dowson.

The top flight trio lead the list of visitors to Kingsmeadow this pre-season after all three clubs agreed to play friendly clashes with Ks last week.

Dowson is busy piecing together a squad to challenge for Ryman Premier League promotion this term and bumper crowds for the three clashes should swell the club's coffers.

Spurs kick-off the tempting triple of matches on July 16, with Fulham visiting on July 27 and Champions of Europe Chelsea making the trip to Jack Goodchild Way on August 11 – a week before the Premier League season kicks-off.

"If anyone can get a better pre-season fixture list than that, then I will be amazed," said Dowson.

"I'm buzzing. I could care less about the Ryman League fixtures, which are released on Friday, It is all about these three for me.

"They may not bring their best teams, but the timings of the games should mean one or two stars might need a run out.

"Not many people get to play football against the top teams in Europe and that could be the little pull that one or two players need to put pen to paper."

Chelsea last featured at Kingsmeadow when their reserve team were based at the club between 1992 and 2000, while Fulham – skippered by Clint Dempsey – were 8-0 winners when they played a friendly at the ground in 2008.

Dowson's assistant coach and Sky Sports commentator Martin Tyler has been influential in bagging the three games, but a chance meeting with former Wigan Athletic boss Paul Jewell on a Spanish golf course helped Dowson get the ball rolling – and landlords AFC Wimbledon have played their part.

"The Dons are a credit to football for helping us get these games on at such short notice," said Dowson
